

CLAIMS

1. A moving picture display device comprising:
a moving picture storage unit for storing one or more moving pictures 5 having position information as attribute values; and a moving picture display unit for displaying the one or more moving pictures, wherein the moving picture display unit displays the position information corresponding to the moving picture visually when displaying 10 the moving picture.

2. The moving picture display device of claim 1, further comprising:
a map information storage unit for storing map information; and a map display unit for displaying the map information,

15 wherein the moving picture display unit disposes and displays the moving picture on the map information shown by the map display unit on the basis of the map information corresponding to the moving picture.

20 3. The moving picture display device of claim 1, wherein the moving picture display unit displays two or more moving pictures, and also display the position relation of two or more moving pictures visually, on the basis of two or more pieces of position information as attribute values of two or more moving pictures being displayed.

25 4. The moving picture display device of any one of claims 1 to 3, further comprising:

a present time acquiring unit for acquiring the present time, wherein the moving picture display unit displays part of the moving picture corresponding to the present time when displaying the moving 5 picture.

5. The moving picture display device of claim 4, wherein the moving picture display unit displays part of the moving picture corresponding to the present time considering the time difference.

10

6. A moving picture display device for determining the output position of moving picture on the basis of position information related to moving picture, and displaying one or more moving pictures on the basis of the determination.

15

7. A program causing a computer to execute, comprises: a step of determining the display position of moving picture on the basis of position information pairing with one or more moving pictures; and a step of displaying one or more moving pictures at the position shown 20 by the display position.